

Remote Work: Show us the numbers!

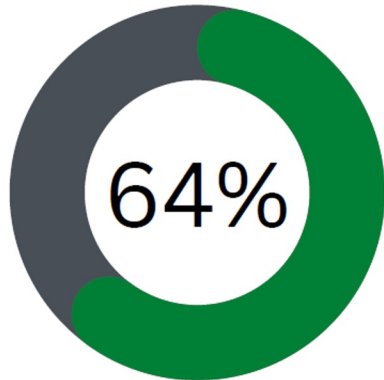

REMOTE WORK TRENDS FOR 2023

- 77% of remote workers say they're more productive when working from home.
- 74% of workers say that having the option to work remotely would make them less likely to leave a company.
- 69% of millennials would give up on certain work benefits for a more flexible working space
- 99% of people would choose to work remotely for the rest of their life, even if it was just part-time
- The average annual income of remote workers is $4,000 higher than that of other workers.

Opportunities for Remote Administrative Assistant Work of senior managers polled by Robert Half plan to hire more admins & customer support workers in 2023 are happy to hire entry level workers & train them!

According to ZipRecruiter, the national average for a remote administrative assistant is $28/hr with full time salary at $59,000.

Employer Outlook

Small companies are 2x more likely to hire full-time remote workers
(Owl Labs)

18. 85% of managers believe that having remote workers will become the new normal for many teams
(TECLA)

Source: Job Outlook 2022 Spring Update, National Association of Colleges and Employers

Career Cluster for Administrative Assistant Work

In our Future Plans database, we have 256 people in Adams & Brown counties who fit the profile for Administrative Assistant work.

Administrative Services Manager - Customer Support Representative - Meeting or Event Planners - Office Clerks, Receptionists & Information Clerks - Bookkeepers - Training & Development Specialists